ENGLISH PRIDE SET TO TAKE YET MORE BEATINGS.

England prides itself on being a nation of animal lovers – we were the first in the world to introduce animal-welfare legislation. Yet as country after country bans archaic animal circuses, our government does nothing and English pride turns to shame. For lions and other wild animals to continue to be beaten for cruel entertainment is unconscionable and embarrassing.

ERM, SORRY, MINISTER, BUT WE DID VOTE LEAVE SOME TIME AGO NOW.

Seven years ago, in a government consultation, 94 per cent of respondents voted for a complete ban on wild animals in circuses. There's a clear mandate, so let's have no more delaying tactics – it's time for the government to do the right thing and stop the suffering.

Free ~~THREE~~ LIONS

Lions and other wild animals are still being used and abused in circuses, even though the government pledged years ago to ban this cruel and archaic form of entertainment. It's time it delivered on its promise. Every day that it delays, animals are beaten, intimidated, caged, and denied everything that's meaningful to them.
